

2010
Research & Innovation Week
Lakehead University

February 19 - 26

The Pleistocene Meets Middle Earth:

Hobbits (Homo floresiensis) & Human Evolution

with Matthew W. Tocheri, Ph.D.

Matthew Tocheri is a Lakehead graduate in anthropology, currently a paleoanthropologist at the world renowned Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C.

Recent research involves explaining the significance of hominin fossils recently discovered in Indonesia fossils named "the Hobbits" due to small stature significant in explaining human evolution/origins and human migration also uses innovative technology for quantitatively analyzing the bone fragments

Thur., Feb., 25

7 p.m.

ATAC 1003

Lakehead
UNIVERSITY