By adding Criminology 2090, the previously borrowed methods courses from Psychology and Sociology will no

	longer be required and can be removed. 3. The Criminology program does not have a course in Criminological Theory. A course of this nature is necessary for a well-rounded Criminology program, and it will be an expected course for students who are hoping to advance to graduate study. 4. Several courses appear as recommended in the Criminology requirements. There is no logical justification for why the current courses are recommended and not various other courses. Students are able to meet Area II requirements of the HBASc through numerous courses. Rather than exhaustive lists, Criminology should follow the structure of other HBASc programs and have a blanket recommendation to take 3FCE in Area I and Area II courses. All currently recommended courses will be removed.5. Removing the specific list of courses required at each year level and replacing them with a blanket statement of year level requirements will simplify requirement listings, and make it easier for students to understand the Criminology requirements. It is also consistent with the structure of other similar programs, e.g. Political Science. 6. Interdisciplinary Studies 4032 and 4091 should have a * beside them to indicate core status as they are of direct criminological relevance and should be counted in student averages in the discipline. 7. The introductory courses in Psychology and Sociology will no longer be required as prerequisites for the previously borrowed methods courses and can be removed. First-year Criminology students will then be given more choice in first-year courses by adding Political Science 1301- Introduction to Law and Political Science 1100- Introduction to Political Science as first-year Criminology options, in addition to SOCI 1100 and PSYC 1100.
Requirements Graduates of a 2-year diploma program in Protection, Security, and Investigation (formerly Law and Security Administration), Police Foundations, or Community and Justice Services at an Ontario college may be admitted to the HBASc Criminology Major College Pathways program. If they have a minimum "B" average, they are eligible to be credited with 6 FCEs towards the HBASc (Criminology Major), reducing the remaining requirements to 14 FCEs (with an overall average of 70%), as outlined below. Meeting the minimum requirement does not guarantee admission to either the University or a specific program. First Year: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) Interdisciplinary Studies 1010</li> <li>(b) *Criminology 1010 and 1030</li> <li>(c) Psychology 1100</li> <li>(d) Sociology 1100</li> <li>(e) One FCE elective (Biology 1010 recommended)</li> <li>(f) One half-course elective at the second or third year level</li> </ul> Second Year: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) *One FCE chosen from Criminology 2010, 2030, 2050; Political Science 2311, 2313, 2617; Sociology</li> </ul>	Requirements Graduates of a 2-year diploma program in Protection, Security, and Investigation (formerly Law and Security Administration), Police Foundations, or Community and Justice Services at an Ontario college may be admitted to the HBASc Criminology Major College Pathways program. Teaching Loads	Teaching Loads Yes. The two new courses CRIM 2015 and 2090 will be new courses, which will require an additional 1FCE to be taught in Criminology each year. The student numbers in Criminology justify this expansion. Furthermore, multiple sections of the SOCI and PSYC methods courses would be required, e.g. SOCI 3101 has 60 students this year already at the Orillia campus. As such, it would be more accurate to say that the FCEs we offer will be changing rather than increasing.
