RE: Adjunct Professor Nomination

Dear Dr. Hayes,

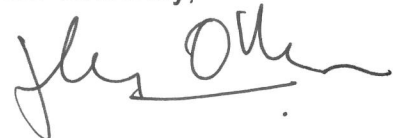

The Faculty of Education is pleased to recommend Dr. J. Randolph Valentine for appointment as an Adjunct Professor in the Faculty of Education. Dr. Valentine has accepted my offer of appointment.

Dr. Valentine holds the rank of Professor in the Departments of Linguistics and American Indian Studies at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and is also Chair of American Indian Studies. Dr. Valentine has taught part-time at Lakehead University in the Native Language Instructors' Program since 1981, and is a leading scholar of the Ojibwe language (Anishinaabemowin).

His appointment will be mutually beneficial for the Faculty of Education and Dr. Valentine, and will facilitate his work in research projects related to his expertise.

Attached is a copy of Dr. Valentine's curriculum vitae, letter of acceptance, and a letter from the Dean of his faculty indicating approval of the appointment.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. John O'Meara
Professor and Dean
