Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies 1100 YDG – 2021-2022

Class: Mondays and Wednesdays 2:30 pm – 4:00 pm, online/Zoom

Instructor: Dr. Jan Oakley

Instructor Email: joakley@lakeheadu.ca Phone: (807) 630-3406 / (807) 684-0947 Office hours: Mondays, 10:00-11:00 (or by appointment) via Zoom

Welcome to Women's Studies 1100: an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of women's and gender studies. In this course we examine how gender intersects with class, race, age, ability and sexuality to shape our lives in complicated ways. Together we will explore how gender operates as an analytical category in conjunction with other categories, and study how what we consider "normal" and permanent about gender is culturally and historically produced.

REQUIRED TEXT (available at the bookstore/online)

Margaret Hobbs and Carla Rice, Gender and Women's Studies in Canada: Critical Terrain – 2nd edition (Toronto: Women's Press, 2018). Copies have been ordered to the Lakehead bookstore, but you are welcome to acquire a copy however you wish.

At the end of this course, you should be able to:

- articulate (orally and in writing) the major concepts in Women's Studies, including feminism, intersectionality, patriarchy, oppression, privilege, difference, identity, social location, heteronormativity, decolonization, agency, and resistance
- demonstrate an understanding of women's historical and contemporary participation and contributions to social change
- demonstrate an understanding of how Women's Studies generates new knowledge
- understand, synthesize, and contribute to scholarly discussions in Women's Studies through lectures, in-class discussions and tutorials
- demonstrate an awareness of some of the ways gender and sex function, as well as the relationship to other categories of analysis and identity (intersectionality)
- conduct secondary scholarly research using a variety of scholarly resources
- communicate research results in writing, clearly and effectively

COURSE FORMAT: Online/Zoom delivery, and a D2L course website

This is an online course with both synchronous and asynchronous elements (meaning, some elements of the course will take place during "regular" course time, online via Zoom, while other parts of the course will be done on your own schedule). Our classes are scheduled on Mondays and Wednesdays, 2:30-4:00 pm. (Note also that the course office hour is Mondays, 10:00-11:00, with a Zoom link available on our website.)

On Mondays, you should view the lecture and materials posted on our course website on your own. This is known as the "flipped classroom" model: lectures will be posted in advance of our Monday class, for you to access and watch at your convenience.

On Wednesdays, we will meet virtually, online via Zoom, to discuss the readings and lectures and to participate in interactive learning activities. To join our classes on Wednesdays, please follow the meeting links provided on our course website. Please come to Wednesday classes having read the materials and viewed the lecture, and ready to discuss.

We will also use a D2L website throughout our course. The website includes links to course resources, posted lectures, and to scheduled Zoom classes, as well as discussion boards, an assignment drop box, and other course materials. Our class D2L website can be accessed at https://mycourselink.lakeheadu.ca/. We will use the following sections:

- Main page/Announcements: where course updates will be regularly posted, and where you can find links to our Wednesday class meetings
- Content: where course materials are posted
- Discussions: where online discussions will take place throughout the course

Please spend some time familiarizing yourself with these components of the website. You may wish to review the "Important Links" information under the tab menu item entitled "More."

ASSIGNMENT GUIDELINES

PARTICIPATION: (15% per term – Fall and Winter)

A number of interactive, participatory elements will be built into our Zoom classes on Wednesdays. Our focus, during these classes, will be on unpacking and considering (critically, personally, politically, locally, globally) the ideas in the assigned readings and discussed in the posted lecture. This is a time for you to work through your ideas and questions in a group setting, with the insights of your classmates.

The Wednesday discussion classes will be based on ideas from (a) the assigned readings of the week and (b) the posted lecture, in which the main themes are reviewed and questions for discussion are outlined. To prepare for participation in the lectures and Wednesday discussions, read the assigned course texts carefully and aim to understand the following in each reading:

- What is the thesis or central argument?
- What points or information does the author use to prove the argument(s)?
- Does the author have an obvious perspective/purpose for writing the article? What is it?
- How do the readings fit together? What are some common themes of the readings? How do they complement the weekly lecture? How do they fit with other readings/lectures from the course?

Please note that during class discussions, respectful communication is expected at all times. Keep in mind that all participants have the right to hold, defend, and promote their views. However, this right exists alongside regulations that protect an individual's right to education without discrimination or harassment on the basis of gender, race, sex, religion, class, sexual orientation, gender identity, ability, body size, age, place of origin, etc. Students are required to respect social and cultural differences. Intents to insult an individual or group of individuals on the basis of their gender, race, etc. and words or symbols that convey hatred or contempt constitute harassment and will not be tolerated! Our discussions must always respect the values of diversity and tolerance of difference.

Note: If you cannot attend Wednesday classes, posting assignments will be available online, using our Discussion board, on which your participation mark will be based.

READING RESPONSE PAPERS 1 and 2 (10% each) – due October 6 and November 10

During the Fall semester you will write two reading response papers. These papers provide me with evidence that you have read and reflected on the readings, including how they connect (or not) to your own experiences.

Length Guideline: The suggested length guideline for each of these papers is approximately 5 pages, double-spaced, plus a References/Works Cited page. Please use a 12-point font, e.g., Times New Roman, with normal margins.

Content: For each paper, select two weeks' of readings that we have covered in class to date, as outlined in the Readings By Week section of this course outline. For the first reflection paper (due October 6), you can select among Weeks 2-5 of the readings; for the second reflection paper (due November 10), please select among Weeks 6-9 of the readings.

There are two parts to these papers:

- (a) Readings summary section: Summarize the overall gist of the chapters included in the two weeks' of readings (Important: do not summarize the "Snapshots & Soundwaves" selections). You reading summary should answer the following questions: What is the ostensible meaning of each reading, that is, what is the primary claim each author is making? How do the authors develop or support their claims? How do the chapters connect to the weekly theme? Aim to write concisely, with an emphasis on summarizing and paraphrasing (not quoting the authors–please, do not include any direct quotations). Recommended page length for this section: 3 double-spaced pages
- (b) Reflection and response section: Comment on something that especially appealed to you or intrigued you. Consider: what was it about this idea, concept, or reading that moved you? How does it connect (or not connect) with your own social location, and your experiences? Why do you think that it's important? Please don't comment on everything; rather, try to develop one thought in some depth. Recommended page length for this section: 2 double-spaced pages

Suggested Organization: Here is a suggested organization for your paper:

- Page 1 in the top left-hand corner, include: your name and course number (1100 YDG). Underneath that, identify the two weeks of readings/themes you are addressing in your paper. For example: (Week 4: Intersectionality and Week 5: Accounting for Inequalities). Note that you do NOT need to include a title page for these assignments.
- Readings summary section (recommended length: approximately 3 pages)
- Reflection and response section (recommended length: approximately 2 pages)
- on a separate page: References or Works Cited page, in APA or MLA style

Submission Process: Please submit this assignment in MS Word (not as a PDF), through the "Assignment" tab on our course website. Please do not submit "Pages" documents – my computer can't open them.

Evaluation: A rubric (posted on our website) will be used to evaluate your paper. Please check it out to understand what is valued in the marking process. A sample reflection paper assignment will also be shared, along with links to APA/MLA style guides for your References/Works Cited page.

FALL END-OF-TERM EXAM (date to be determined by the University)

The Fall End-of-Term Exam will be an "open book" exam that incorporates/encompasses all learning from lectures, readings, and discussions. The exam will be written online, and you will write it in a three-hour block. It will not be multiple-choice! Further details, and an exam review, will be provided in class.

PAPER PROPOSAL AND ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY (10%) – due February 16

This is a two-part assignment, in which you will (1) develop a paper proposal for the research paper due in March, and (2) prepare an annotated bibliography (a list of potential sources, with a short description of the relevancy of each source). Support will be provided in class to help you complete this assignment.

First, pick a topic of interest related to the field of Women's Studies: this might be a topic we've covered in class, or one not discussed in class (note: if you go with the second option here, it's a good idea to make an appointment with the instructor or GA to discuss your topic and ideas). This topic can be global or local in orientation, and either historical or contemporary – but do ensure the scope is narrow enough that you can write research paper about it in depth.

Paper Proposal: Develop a detailed 1-2 page outline of your paper including: (a) an introductory statement/short description of the chosen topic, (b) your research question, (c) a preliminary thesis statement, and (d) the key points you intend to use to prove your thesis. A good paper will have 3-4 key points used to prove the thesis. Together, these four components of your proposal will form the preliminary "skeleton" for your research essay.

Annotated Bibliography: In addition to the paper proposal, provide an annotated bibliography of potential sources to be used in your research essay. Using the library, you will find a variety of sources (including, but not limited to, books, journal articles, and internet sites) that could be useful in writing your paper. This requires that you critically think about the sources you find in order to evaluate whether or not they will be useful for your paper. The sources you identify should be provided in proper bibliographic style (APA or MLA citation style). Your annotation should include 4-5 sentences briefly describing the source and indicating how you think it works to prove your thesis.

You are encouraged to search broadly for potential sources. You need to ensure that all of your sources have a connection to your topic and that they are scholarly, academic sources. Each bibliography must include at least six sources, based on the following breakdown:

- 2 books
- 2-4 journal articles from peer-reviewed academic journals
- 0-2 online sites (specific, educational sites related to your topic not Wikipedia or the like. Look for websites ending in .edu and .org or containing .gov OR reputable newspaper and magazine articles relevant to your topic)

Note: Course materials (i.e., readings from our text) cannot be used for this assignment.

Evaluation: A rubric (posted on our website) will be used to evaluate your paper. Please check it out to understand what is valued in the marking process. A sample assignment will also be shared, along with links to APA/MLA style guides for your References/Works Cited page.

RESEARCH PAPER (10%) – due March 16

Your final research paper builds upon the previous assignment (the Paper Proposal and Annotated Bibliography) submitted earlier in the Winter term. Be sure to pay close attention to the feedback that you received on that assignment to ensure that you are able to produce your best work. (Note: changing your research paper topic after the proposal and bibliography are submitted is HIGHLY DISCOURAGED.)

The suggested length guideline for your research paper is approximately 2,000 words (6-8 pages, double-spaced), plus a References/Works Cited page. Please use a 12-point font, e.g., Times New Roman, with normal margins. Give your paper a title and create a title page, and format your entire assignment as per APA or MLA style.

Your research paper should follow a similar format as identified in your paper proposal. The introductory section should include an introductory hook, a clearly stated research question, a thesis statement (what your main argument will be) and an indication of the key points or subtopics that will be addressed in the paper. In the main body of the paper, you should sequentially develop your key points, providing evidence throughout from the books and academic articles you have read on your topic.

Each major topic should be a separate paragraph and all information in that paragraph should clearly link to the topic. Your paper should end with a conclusion that restates your main points and ties up your argument.

Proper referencing is mandatory for academic research papers. References must be given for all information you have taken from other sources, whether you are directly quoting or paraphrasing in your own words. Carefully check that all of your sources are fully cited in the body of the paper (author, year of publication and page number) and also that all of your sources are listed alphabetically and with full information in the References/Works Cited page.

Evaluation: A rubric (posted on our website) will be used to evaluate your paper. Please check it out to understand what is valued in the marking process. Sample research paper assignments will also be shared.

WINTER END-OF-TERM EXAM (date to be determined by the University)

Please see the description above regarding the Fall End-of-Term Exam – the same overview applies to the Winter exam.
