

A brief summary of WOME-3111-WA (Special topics course taught winter 2020):

This course engages with Asian Canadian women's life/social experience in the Canadian and American diasporas. The course will analyze the making of the Chinese Immigration Act (1923-1947), Japanese internment in both Canadian and American contexts, and the works of Asian women scholars, activists, and writers in Canada.

Please note that the course outline for this course is unavailable at this time.*