Course Description

Welcome to Women's Studies 1100! This course is an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of women's and gender studies. We examine how gender intersects with class, race, age, ability and sexuality to shape our lives in complicated ways. Together we will explore how gender operates as an analytical category in conjunction with other categories, and study how what we consider 'normal' and permanent about gender is culturally, socially and historically produced.

Required Texts: (Available in the LU Bookstore)

Margaret Hobbs and Carla Rice, Gender and Women's Studies in Canada: Critical Terrain, Second Edition (Toronto: Women's Press, 2018).

Learning Objectives

At the end of this course you should be able to:

- Articulate (orally and in writing) the major concepts in Women's Studies, including feminism, intersectionality, patriarchy, oppression, privilege, difference, identity, heteronormativity, decolonization, agency and resistance
- Demonstrate an understanding of women's historical and contemporary participation and contribution to social change
- Demonstrate an understanding of how Women's Studies generates new knowledge

- Understand, synthesize and contribute to scholarly discussions in Women's Studies through the research process and in class discussions

At the end of this course you should be able to:

- Demonstrate an awareness of some of the ways gender and sex function as well as the relationship to other categories of analysis and identity (intersectionality)
- Conduct secondary scholarly research using a variety of scholarly resources
- Communicate research results in writing clearly and effectively
- Engage in oral discussion regarding key issues and debates in Women's Studies

Fall Semester Assignments:

Participation	5%	Evaluated during the semester
Short Reflection Papers (3 x 10%)	30%	DUE: Oct 9th, 2020; Nov 6th, 2020; and Nov 29th, 2020 respectively
Midterm Exam:	15%	December 11th - 13th, 2020 (instructions to follow)

Winter Semester Assignments:

Participation	5%	Evaluated during the semester
Paper Proposal and Bibliography	15%	DUE: February 7th, 2021
Research Paper	15%	DUE: March 28th, 2021
Final Exam	15%	April 16th - 18th, 2021 (instructions to follow)

NOTE: Both exams will be held online through our class Desire2Learn website. You need not write the exam in a particular location, you need only to have access to a secure internet connection.

A note on participation and discussions:

Discussions require that everyone participates (posts and listens) in an engaged and respectful way. This applies to online discussion as well. Students are expected to participate and contribute via online discussion posts. Disagreement and debate are inevitable, and productive, when we use them as opportunities for learning.

Personal attacks, gender and racial slurs, disrespectful comments on ability or able-bodiedness, or other such disrespectful behaviour will not be tolerated. Keep in mind that this is a scholarly environment and professionalism is expected at all times. In this course we will deal with many sensitive issues and may encounter historical language no longer appropriate. Please be reminded that respect for the people we study and other students is essential to a productive discussion. Disrespectful behaviour and/or comments about people in class or being studied will not be tolerated. Students should be aware that such conduct could result in removal from online discussion forums and a grade of 0 for the participation component of your final grade.

Please be aware that some of the material we are reading is of a sensitive nature. Some readings may be upsetting, disturbing and/or relatable to our own experiences. I ask that we all use respectful language and be sensitive of one another during our discussions. While thoughtful self reflection is encouraged, students should be mindful that class discussions are public and not always the best place to disclose. Please feel free to reach out to Dr. Chisholm and/or course Teaching Assistants for support, or consult any of the campus resources listed below.

A Note about COVID-19

This has been an especially challenging year, with many of us struggling with the transition to online learning. I recognize that some of you might be juggling working and learning from home, as well as helping children, siblings or others in your family complete their own schooling. This can be very challenging, and we can't always anticipate what might come up. Your best practice for success is to be honest with yourself about what you need and what you can handle, and then to reach out and communicate with Dr. Chisholm. More than anything, I want you to learn, and be successful in this course, so I am open to working with you to find the best path for success.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Email Etiquette:

All correspondence should be polite, respectful and professional. Email inquiries must include:

- a salutation, (i.e. "hello", "dear", "To", etc.)
- a detailed question, or polite request
- a signature (i.e. your name).

Emails that do not follow this format will not be answered.

Every effort will be made to respond to emails within 48 hours (excluding weekends). If you have not received a response after 48 hours, please send a polite reminder as sometimes emails can get lost in the shuffle!

A Note on Submitting Assignments:

All assignments must be submitted electronically, under the "Assignment" tab on our course D2L site. Each assignment will have its own designated folder and students are asked to submit in the appropriate folder. The best format to submit your assignments is as a .doc or .pdf file. You should receive confirmation that your assignment has successfully uploaded. If you do not receive confirmation, it is a sign that something may have gone wrong with the submission. If this happens, please try again to submit, or contact Dr. Chisholm to ensure that your assignment properly uploaded. Improper uploading will not be accepted as an excuse for late papers.

Academic Accommodations:

Some students may benefit from receiving academic accommodation, due to a disability (physical, learning or otherwise), illness or disruption. Please reach out to Student Accessibility Services: <http://learningassistance.lakeheadu.ca/> and speak with an advisor. Your SAS advisor will work with you to develop a plan, which will then be communicated to Dr. Chisholm.

Everyone has the right to an accessible education, and all approved accommodations will be honoured, no questions asked.

Late Policy:

Assignments received after the due date (where the student does not have an approved accommodation) will be penalized 5% per day. Requests for extensions MUST be made prior to the due date and will ONLY be given in extenuating circumstances and may require approval through Student Accessibility Services.

Extensions will not be granted where good time management skills could have avoided the problem; i.e. extensions will not be granted for students who have a number of assignments due at the same time during the semester or for students who have decided to take an overload of classes this semester.

Style and grammar:

Marks are not directly deducted for poor writing style and grammar. However, you simply cannot achieve a good grade if the paper is difficult to read and the argument difficult to discern. It is essential to proofread.

Referencing:

Assignments must be entirely your own work. If the exact words or phrases of another author are used they must be in quotation marks with an accompanying reference. Material that is paraphrased – that is, an idea from another author but put into your own words – must also be accompanied by a properly formatted citation. Please use appropriate style (either MLA, APA or Chicago) in a consistent manner throughout the paper. References are essential and have four purposes: (1) they indicate the source of the “quotations,” (2) acknowledge the interpretations and ideas of others, (3) provide authority for facts which might be challenged or result from the research of others, and (4) point to other sources or interpretations of the same topic. In general, references acknowledge the use of another person’s ideas and are essential in avoiding plagiarism. Failure to provide adequate references constitutes plagiarism.

Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty:

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence. Presenting an idea, words or an exact phrase of another author as your own work constitutes plagiarism. All students are required to know what constitutes plagiarism and how to avoid it.

If you have questions about what constitutes plagiarism you can consult the Lakehead University calendar available online:

<http://calendar.lakeheadu.ca/current/contents/regulations/univeregsIXacdishon.html>

All cases of plagiarism will be dealt with in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct and Disciplinary Procedures approved by Senate and the Board of Governors. Other instances of Academic Dishonesty, including but not limited to double submission, purchasing of assignments (either online or from another student on campus), or copying of assignments will also dealt with in accordance to the University regulations on Academic Dishonesty. Students may obtain a copy of the “Code of Student Behaviour and Disciplinary Procedures” from the Office of the Registrar for more information.

Please do your own work. Your ideas and contributions are valuable. See each assignment as an opportunity to build your writing and analysis skills.

ASSIGNMENT GUIDELINES

Note: Assignments will also be discussed in audio lectures.

Participation (5% per term)

Evaluated throughout the year

Your voice is important!

Class discussion is an important component of the course, and will be facilitated online through discussion forums. Students are expected to contribute to and participate in lively and thoughtful discussions based on the readings and topics for each week. Each semester, students will be required to make at least 10 posts to the online discussion. Each week, a number of questions related to the readings, lecture, and/or videos will be posted. Students are required to respond to at least ONE of these questions, each week. You certainly may post more if you wish!

Each post, should include some background and explanation to contextualize the response. Posts will be evaluated on their relevancy to course material, thoughtfulness and creativity. This exercise helps students evaluate and analyze course material, and learn to develop thoughtful, pointed questions, like those you might ask in a research essay. A good discussion post will answer the question in full, be reflective, analytical and descriptive. Discussion will be centred on the readings listed for each week on the course outline. Readings are complementary to other course components (lectures, assignments, et cetera). Students are encouraged to relate material in the readings to each other, contemporary or historical events, and/or real life examples from their experience. Ultimately, a discussion should become a forum for the analysis and expression of ideas based on evidence from the readings, and for integrating the information/ideas presented in the varied components of the course.

In evaluating the readings consider the following:

What are the key points or ideas?

Can you describe (in your own words) what the reading is about?

How do the readings fit together? What are some common themes of the readings?

How do they complement this week's lectures? How do they fit with other readings/lectures from the course?

Participation from all members of the group is crucial if a discussion is to be both interesting and instructive. Discussion requires preparation which includes reading the articles and thinking critically about them before attending class. It is necessary that students critically read the materials in advance so they are fully prepared to speak about and ask questions about the readings. Participation marks are based on active involvement in the discussion and on the content of the student's comments.

Short Reflection Papers (3 x 10% = 30%)

Due throughout term

Throughout the fall semester, students will write 3 short reflection papers, based on the week's readings and supplementary material provided for the week's listed below. Reflection papers should be approximately 2 pages in length (double spaced, 12 point font).

These assignments are designed to help students learn to develop analytical and writing skills in advance of the research essay (due during the winter semester). A good reflection paper will address a key point in that week's reading, connect it to the supplementary material (news article/blog post/video/etc), offer your viewpoint and/or provide a question (or series of questions) for further discussion.

Students will have the option to choose between two class topics for each reflection paper. The purpose here is to offer some choice as to which topic might peak the student's interest. The class topics and due dates for the reflection papers are as follows:

Block 1:

Feminisms and Diversity

OR

Accounting for Inequalities

PAPER DUE: OCT 9th, 2020

Block 2:

Making of "Difference" and Inequalities

OR

Gender Construction and Performativity

PAPER DUE: NOV 6th, 2020

Block 3:

Gendered Identities

OR

Histories and Legacies of Colonialism and Imperialism

PAPER DUE: NOV 27th, 2020

Each reflection will be worth 10%, for a total of 30% throughout the semester. Check our course Desire2Learn page for a more detailed description of expectations for this assignment.

Midterm Exam (15%)

December 11th - 13th, 2020

Students will complete the midterm exam online, through our course D2L site. Students will be given a window of time within which to complete the midterm. Further explanation will be provided during the last week of classes in December.

The midterm exam will be made up of short answer questions and a long answer/essay question. The midterm will be cumulative from the beginning of the course. The exam will incorporate all learning from lectures, readings, discussion, and assignments. A detailed overview of the exam will be done during the last week of class.

Paper Proposal and Bibliography (15%)

DUE February 7th, 2021

For this assignment, students will develop a paper proposal for the research essay (due in March), create a list of potential sources, and provide a short description of the relevancy of each source. Students will pick a topic of interest related to the field of Women's Studies - this might be a topic we've covered in class, or one not discussed in class (Note: if you go with the second option here, it is a really good idea to make an appointment with Dr. Chisholm or your TA to discuss your topic and ideas).

Develop a detailed 1-2 page outline of your paper including: introductory statement, short description of the chosen topic, your research question, preliminary thesis statement, and the key points you intend to use to prove your thesis. (A good paper will have 3-4 key points used to prove the thesis.) The proposal should form the preliminary "skeleton" for your research essay. A good research question is on a subject that will sustain your interest over the course of the research, is specific enough to limit to research so that you are able to complete in a reasonable timeframe. Your research can be global or local in orientation as well as either historical or contemporary. The question should reflect both a time period and a place or when and where things happened. This will inform your research and evaluation of the sources.

This preliminary assignment is designed to get you thinking about and exploring the resources for your final paper. This research will form the basis of your final paper and therefore you need to perform this research carefully and seriously. It requires research done primarily through the library website and in the library. (Note: You can connect to the library website off campus using the proxy server. On the Library homepage click on Connect from Home and login using your LU email address and password.)

In addition to the paper proposal, students will also provide an annotated bibliography of potential sources to be used in the research essay. Using the library you will find a variety of sources (including, but not limited to books, journal articles, and internet sites) that will be useful in writing your paper. This still requires that you critically think about the sources you find in order to evaluate whether or not they will be useful in conducting your research. The sources you identify should be provided in proper bibliographic style (MLA, APA or Chicago citation style). Your annotation should include 4-5 sentences briefly describing the source and indicating how you think it works to prove your thesis.

You are encouraged to search broadly for any potential sources. You need to ensure that all of your sources have a connection to your topic and that they are scholarly, academic sources.

Each bibliography must include (at least):

2 books

2 journal articles

2 online sites (specific, educational sites related to your topic – not Wikipedia or the like. Look for websites ending in .edu and .org or containing .gov OR reputable newspaper and magazine articles relevant to your topic)

Please note: Course materials cannot be used for this assignment

Another purpose of this assignment is to provide you with some feedback on your research question and thesis statement prior to the writing of the research essay. Pay close attention to the suggestions provided by the grader and work to incorporate them into your final essay.

Research Paper (15%)

DUE March 28th, 2021

Your final research paper builds upon the proposal and bibliography submitted earlier in the term. Be sure to pay close attention to the feedback that you received from that assignment to ensure that you are able to produce your best work. Please note: changes of research paper topic after the proposal and bibliography are submitted is HIGHLY DISCOURAGED. Your paper should be about 2000 words (6-8pgs double spaced), 12 point font, one inch margins, a works cited page including all sources used in the essay in proper citation style.

Your research paper should follow the same format as identified for your outline. The introductory section should include an introductory hook, a clearly stated research question, a thesis statement (or what your main argument will be) and an indication of the key points or subtopics that will be addressed in the paper. In the main body of the paper you should sequentially develop your key points providing evidence throughout from the books and academic articles you have read on your topic.

Each major topic should be a separate paragraph and all information in that paragraph should clearly link to the topic. Your paper should end with a strong conclusion that restates your main points and ties up your argument.

As noted in the general guidelines above, proper referencing is mandatory for academic research papers. References must be given for all information you have taken from other sources whether you are directly quoting, or paraphrasing in your own words. Either MLA, APA or Chicago format can be used. Carefully check that all of your sources are fully cited in the body of the paper (author, year of publication and page number) and also that all of your sources are listed alphabetically and with full information in the bibliography.

Leave sufficient time before the due date to carefully proofread and edit your paper. Pay particular attention to spelling and grammar. Use your computer spellcheck as a first step, but remember that the computer program will not catch most grammatical errors, nor will it catch many common spelling errors. For example, the spell check program will not flag words for which spelling is context dependent, such as “principal” and “principle,” or “their” and “there.” You will need to do your own careful proofreading to catch such errors. If you are uncertain about a word spelling please take a few seconds and consult an online dictionary to get the correct spelling and usage. Similarly, online grammar sources or reference texts in the LU library should be consulted for questions of grammar. Assistance can also be found at the Student Success Centre, however, during busy term time, there may be delays in accessing help.

Exam (15%)

April 16th - 18th, 2021

Students will complete the final exam online, through our course D2L site. Students will be given a window of time within which to complete the exam. Further explanation will be provided during the last week of classes in April.

The final exam will follow a similar format to the midterm. Students will be asked to synthesize material from throughout the course, however specific questions will address material from the second term (January-April). The exam will incorporate all learning from lectures, readings, discussion, and assignments. A detailed overview of the exam will be done during the last week of class.
