

The future of work:

Digital technologies and
Canada's labour market

February 19, 2020 2:00 pm

The Future of Work: Digital Technologies and Canada's Labour Market

Which workers are at the highest risk of having their jobs automated and have fewer opportunities to transition to new occupations? Without a consensus of the proportion of jobs that may become fully automated how will Canadian leaders understand how the labour market will shift?

Join our webinar on February 11 at 2pm ET for an inside look on how to guide your organizations resources on the people and skill transitions that need it most.