submitting this request?: ~~(Interdisciplinary Studies Major) programming by proposing four new thematic concentrations. Each concentration within the HBASc will require three FCEs of disciplinary courses related to the concentration theme at the second year level or higher in addition to two FCEs of thematic Inquiry courses at first (0.5 FCE), third (0.5 FCE), and fourth (1 FCE) year levels (see the detailed Proposal Brief in the 'Supporting Documents' section of this Calendar change request for a full description of the proposed concentration structure). Each of these new concentrations within the HBASc degree structure will be offered in conjunction with the two-year BEd (Primary/Junior) Concurrent Education program in Orillia. This Calendar change request provides the program requirements for the HBASc (Interdisciplinary Studies Major with Concentration in Social Justice)/BEd (Primary/Junior) Concurrent Education option. This proposed six-year program incorporates the pre-professional requirements of the BEd degree within the Social Justice concentration of the HBASc for students taking disciplinary course in Criminology, English, Media Studies, Political Science, Sociology, and Women's Studies. These proposed program requirements have received the approval of the Chair of Undergraduate Education in Orillia. This change to the HBASc/BEd IS Major with Social Justice Concentration adds four courses to the Social Justice Concentration Course List, two in Sociology (SOCI 4250 and SOCI 4xxx) and two in English (ENGL 3410 and ENGL 3850). No other program changes are made through this request.~~

Degree type	Request
Pedagogical rationale for this proposal. Why are you submitting this request?:	In response to recommendations from its first cyclical undergraduate program review, the Department of Interdisciplinary Studies is seeking to increase the interdisciplinarity of its Honours Bachelor of Arts and Science (Interdisciplinary Studies Major) programming. The proposed Concentration in Social Justice (five FCEs) is one of four concentrations that are being proposed to give a focused interdisciplinary coherence to the existing bi-disciplinary structure of the IS Major. Introducing and providing thematic links for the concentration are two FCEs of new inquiry courses at first (.5 FCE), third (.5 FCE), and fourth (1 FCE) year levels, which students will be required to take in place of INTD 1010, 3010, and 4901, respectively. Moreover, as part of either their disciplinary areas (formerly called "specializations") or electives, students will choose three FCEs beyond first year from a selected list of courses relevant to the topic of social justice. A concentration in Social Justice will assist with the academic priorities of Lakehead's 2013-17 Academic Plan "to achieve excellence in teaching, learning, and research," "to extend community engagement and outreach," and "to strengthen our commitment to social justice." As well, this concentration complements the priority research areas and proposed program areas for growth listed within the 2014-17 Lakehead Strategic Mandate Agreement, particularly "Cultures, Societies, and Social Justice." By enhancing the thematic coherence and conceptual depth of our inquiry-based Interdisciplinary Studies Major, this concentration advances the 2013-2018 Strategic Plan goals of "nurturing scholarship," enabling a "learner-centered student experience," and contributing to "community engagement." Students will receive interdisciplinary opportunities and critical skills to investigate a range of social inequalities and injustices as well as imagine and propose positive social change through policy and practice. The Social Justice concentration will appeal to students in the HBASc Interdisciplinary Studies Major who are completing disciplinary courses in Criminology, English, Media Studies, Political Science, Sociology, and Women's Studies. Graduates from the program will be well prepared to pursue opportunities in the fields of education, policing, public service, social work, the charity and not-for-profit sectors, law and policy development, community organizing, media and journalism, and the arts. Graduates could also apply to the proposed MA in Social Justice at Lakehead University. This change to the HBASc IS Major with Social Justice Concentration adds four courses to the Social Justice Concentration Course List, two in Sociology (SOCI 4250 and SOCI 4xxx) and two in English (ENGL 3410 and ENGL 3850). No other program changes are made through this request.
