Pedagogical rationale for this proposal. Why are you submitting this request?:	Beginning in the 2015/16 academic year, the Department of Interdisciplinary Studies introduced substantive changes to its HBASc (IS Major)/BEd Primary/Junior degree by offering students the opportunity to add a thematic concentration to their program of study. Three new HBASc/BEd degrees with concentrations in Human Nature, International Conflict & Human Rights, and Social Justice were approved by Senate and are now calendared, and a fourth concentration in Environment in Politics and Culture has been submitted to the Senate approval process in 2016/17. The IS Department now proposes to add four-year BASc/BEd degrees to correspond to the original HBASc/BEd IS Major degree and to the HBASc/BEd IS Major degrees with these concentrations. The four-year BASc option was added to the stand-alone HBASc IS Major in 2015/16, and other departments in faculties across the University have moved to add a non-direct entry four-year Bachelors option to their degree structures, including Honours programs offering concurrent Education degrees with the Faculty of Education. Establishing a four-year BASc option within the IS Major/BEd program and the IS Major/BEd program with concentrations provides benefits to students who are unable to meet the 70% HBASc average requirement and to the University by improving student retention and allowing students to graduate from a four-year program with the concentration before entering

the professional years in education. Students who would currently be completing the third year of the HBASc/BEEd IS Major or the HBASc/BEEd IS Major with a concentration but who do not appear likely to meet the Honours average requirement might choose to immediately move to a three-year BASc/BEEd option instead of entering the fourth year of their studies in either the HBASc/BEEd or the four-year BASc/BEEd programs. Furthermore, students completing the fourth year of their HBASc/BEEd studies who have satisfied all of the program requirements of the IS Major or the IS Major with a concentration but who have not met the 70% Honours average are required to retake courses in an effort to raise their average, which has a negative financial impact on students and is frequently not successful. The proposed four-year BASc/BEEd IS Major and BASc/BEEd IS Major with a concentration degrees have the identical program requirements as the respective HBASc/BEEd IS Major and HBASc/BEEd IS Major with a concentration degrees they mirror, with the exception that the minimum average requirements in the Major and concentration will be 60% instead of 70%. These are housekeeping changes and updates to the BASc 4 Yr IS Major/BEEd Concurrent Education degree:

- 1) The description of the major average calculation has been updated to reflect the true method by which Enrolment Services calculates the major average.
- 2) The list of eligible courses to satisfy the second year methodology course requirement has been updated. Psychology 2101 is being discontinued and replaced by Psychology 2110 and Psychology 2112 in the list of eligible methodology courses. Political Science 2555 is being removed from the list of eligible methodology courses.
- 3) Women's Studies has been added as a disciplinary area.

Pedagogical rationale for this proposal. Why are you submitting this request?:	There These are several housekeeping changes being made and updates to the degree, most of which are small or housekeeping measures. First, we now define the major at the beginning of the calendar entry. We define the major as the student's discipline and the INTD courses. Previously the major was not specified and the student's cumulative average was used as the major average. Second, we have moved some of the department regulations into the description of the degree itself in the notes. Notes 1-3 in particular are impacted by this shift of regulations from the departmental regulations to the degree requirements. These changes were made to make the regulations more transparent / accessible to students. In an effort to make things more transparent, we have indicated explicitly what disciplines they may choose from for their degree (note 2). Beyond the changes to the notes, we are eliminating the use of the term "specialization" from our degrees and replacing it with the term "discipline" to make the wording consistent with the new Senate approved calendar definitions. This change does not alter the structure of the degree or its learning outcomes. Next, in accord with the Senate approved ICR we have added a note to the calendar entry (#3) informing students that they need to complete 0.5 FCE of a Type E course. This is part of the note flagging breadth requirements to students. One small change is that English has changed ENGL 2903 (listed as one of the methods classes in Note 4) to ENGL 2913. We have changed the course listed here accordingly. Finally, because we have introduced some new Inquiry classes (INTD, see 2015-soc-5322, 2015-soc-5324) as part of our proposed concentrations and we are treating these as suitable alternatives to the existing INTD requirements, we have changed the wording of the relevant requirements to accommodate this BAsc IS Major/BEd Concurrent Education degree: 1) The description of the major average calculation has been updated to reflect the true method by which Enrolment Services calculates the major average. 2) The list of eligible courses to satisfy the second year methodology course requirement has been updated. Psychology 2101 is being discontinued and replaced by Psychology 2110 and Psychology 2112 in the list of eligible methodology courses.
