07/03/2020, 12:31 PM	Cindy Haggerty	All of our other Indigenous Content courses are cross-listed with INDI, so it only makes sense to include this course. It also provides another option for IL students at second year level.

Course Code:	English 2510 The code is the 'subject' plus the course number (e.g. "Biology 1110").
Title of Course:	Global Literatures in English
Course Description:	A study of literature and cultural expression in English from around the world, including Asia, Africa, the Caribbean and the South Pacific, with an emphasis on Indigenous texts. English is a global language, spoken by over a billion people who have creatively reshaped it to tell stories that reflect their diverse social, historical, political and cultural contexts. These stories both respond to colonial histories, and promote cultural continuity. Issues of nationalism, colonialism, globalization, indigeneity, migration and race will be studied through a variety of literary, cultural, and theoretical texts.

What is the pedagogical rationale for this request? Why are you submitting this request?:

This new course is a result of the revision of the English Department's curriculum (see the Major Modification brief for more details). As recommended in the university's Academic Plan, we have transformed our second-year courses from full to half-courses. All of our other Indigenous Content courses are cross-listed with INDI. For example, is this change required for accreditation?
