Title

Science Fiction, Gender and Social Change

Description

This interdisciplinary examination of gender inequality in and through science fiction interrogates short stories alongside popular science fiction film and television to understand how science fiction as a genre opens up possibilities to theorize gender equality at particular moments in time and how it resists the gendered, racialized, heteronormative, classist, and ableist hegemony that shapes women's and men's lives.

Rationale The department is noting our course categories in the Calendar Listings, instead of on the information page to help students identify the required courses at each year level, and has changed the previous Group A and B Women's Studies to 1 and 2 to avoid confusion when the University implements Groups A-D . We are also making our pre-requisites consistent in Core Courses at each year level.
