COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course explores how four living religions – Hinduism, Buddhism, Christianity and Islam – have shaped and are shaped by their physical environments. Following an introduction to the beliefs, rites and global distribution of each, students will gain an understanding of how traditions name, map and construct their world(s) through origin stories, cosmologies and traditional taxonomies of the land and its inhabitants. The meaning and impact of pilgrimage, communal rituals, and festivals are considered in light of current concerns about ecosystem burden and resource management. New possibilities are explored throughout for positive alliance and collaboration in environmental ethics and global concerns.

COURSE MATERIALS: There is no expensive text book to buy. You're welcome! But... this means that the course material is everything that we cover in class lectures. All power points with lecture material and readings will be made available on D2L. But the readings are only intended to be supplemental to the course material, so it is really important that you make priority of attending lectures and taking your own notes.

EXAMS: The midterm will be mostly short answer questions and will cover any lecture and reading material to date. The final exam will be roughly the same format for lecture and reading material since the midterm plus one essay question testing overall understanding and ability to critically engage with the course material.

EVALUATION:

- Term paper outline & sources 15%
- Midterm 25%
- Final term paper 35%
- Final Exam 25%

Letter Grade	Percentage	Letter Grade	Percentage
A +	90-100%	D	50-59%
A 1 st class standing	80-89%	E Failed	40-49%
B	70-69%	F Failed	1-39%
C	60-86%	F Academic Dishonesty	0

MY EXPECTATIONS:

- Regular attendance, of course. Readings are only supplemental to the course material covered in the bi-weekly lectures, so it's really important that you prioritize coming to all the lectures. They'll be so interesting you won't want to miss them anyway.
- Submission of assignments is expected by class time on the date that they are due.
- There are only 3 assignment due dates (!!), so late submissions of assignments (except in the case of medical or compassionate grounds arranged with me before the due date) will lose 10% per day.
