Submission of this form means you have read, understood and agreed to the following fine print (cited directly from the University of Carleton, <http://gradstudents.carleton.ca/professionaldevelopment/3-minute-thesis/rules-eligibility/>):

- The 3MT presentation must represent the thesis research of the presenter only. The presentation of the research, will not affect any preexisting rights regarding its use at all times prior to and following the competition except as stated below.
- Due to the nature of the competition, we will not ask judges, reviewers, staff or the audience to agree to or sign non-disclosure statements. If your research is being/has been conducted under contract with an outside sponsor, please discuss the related contractual terms of confidentiality and intellectual property with your supervisor before presenting your research project.
- All public sessions of the competition are open to the public at large. Any and all of these public sessions may be broadcast to interested persons through media which may include the Internet.
- Any data or information presented or divulged in public sessions by presenters should be considered information that will likely enter the public realm, and presenters should not assume any right of confidentiality in any data or information discussed, divulged or presented in these sessions. This means if your research includes confidential or culturally sensitive material you should think very carefully about how you can present this information. We advise that you discuss your competition entry with your supervisor(s) before entering the 3MT.
