INDI-2331-WDE: Comparative Community Development

Start Date/Duration: January 6th, 2025 – April 4th, 2025

Mondays & Wednesdays: 8:30AM - 10:00AM

(Online/Zoom)

Instructor: Tamara Bernard

Course Description: Students will review models of community development in an effort to highlight successful characteristics of community development. Funding strategies, partnership development, skill enhancement or job training, infrastructure revitalization, leadership and decision-making are all part of the equation and are the issues that are presented in the course as integral to successful community development. From gaming to forestry, the comparative approach will offer students considerable insight into the realities of community development.
