Course Description

This course focuses on the intersection between politics (power) and economics (wealth). It explores the political implication of international economic relations based on trade, (neo)imperialism, global finance, development, gender, global security, global governance, pandemic/health, race, among other trends in the political economy. The course considers the evolution of the global political economy through several historical eras that laid the foundation for the contemporary political-economic order. We will also assess and debate the relative merits of the leading theoretical schools and explanatory frameworks (realist, neoliberalism, liberal institutionalist, economic nationalism, and critical theory) that attempt to account for these shifting trends in the global political economy.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course students should be able to:

- Develop a high-level critical understanding of global political economy
- Understand how history has shaped the development of GPE
- Be familiar with the major theoretical approaches to GPE
- Understand the main structures of the GPE
- Demonstrate in-depth knowledge of one particular facet of the GPE

Required Materials and Texts

This course uses the following textbook as the primary material.

Robert O'Brien, R & Williams, M. (2020). Global Political Economy: Evolution and Dynamics, 6th Edition. New York: Palgrave.

Additional materials are specified in each lecture week in the course schedule.

Evaluation

Proposal and Bibliography: 20%

Research Paper: 35%

Seminar Presentation: 30%

Research Paper Presentation: 10%

Participation: 5%

Class Format

This course is delivered in person, inclusive of weekly lectures and seminars. Each week's lecture includes a synthesis of the reading material and additional information that advances knowledge of the week's topic.

Course Structure and Work Requirements Course Structure: Class will hold once a week for a total of three hours. Weekly activities will vary (see the schedule, below) but a major emphasis is on seminar presentation. Students are expected to read all assigned materials and take an active part in discussions.

Assignments:

Proposal and Preliminary Bibliography

- 1) Students will prepare a two-page double-spaced topic proposal for their Research Paper (Due February 14th). The proposal must feature a research question, a hypothesis that answers the research question directly, and 3) relevant background information describing the major themes and their relevance to GPE. In addition, students will append to the proposal a preliminary annotated bibliography featuring no fewer than 8 scholarly sources, correctly formatted using APA or CMS.
- 2) Research Paper (Due March 28th) 4000 to 4500 words in length, not including the bibliography. Minimum of 15 scholarly sources. The Research Paper will address in depth a historical or contemporary issue in GPE.
- 3) Presentation (Due March 7th). Each student will prepare a 10 min (minimum) presentation discussing their research project. The presentation will address the main elements of the project: 1) the topic, 2) the research question and hypothesis, and 3) the main themes drawn from the literature. The purpose of the presentation is to seek input from the class on how to improve the project in anticipation of preparing the final version of the Research Paper.
- 4) Class Participation (Ongoing): Participation is an essential feature of the course. This course is largely discussion based so attendance and preparation are critical.
- 5) Seminar Presentation (Ongoing): Students are expected to participate consistently in ongoing class seminars. Participation constitutes 30% of your final mark, and therefore it will be unlikely for you to succeed in the course if you are unable to participate consistently. Each week you are expected to produce a critical response that 1) identifies the most important insights you have learned from the course material of the week and 2) provides a minimum of 2 question prompts for discussion. Your response should NOT be a summary of the reading(s). It should be 300-350 words in length and should be submitted in MyCourseLink. Each response is worth 3%. No late responses will be accepted.

Evaluation of Written Assignments/Projects:

80-100% (A range): Shows advanced competency in meeting the research and/or analytical and/or communications and/or cognitive and/or technical requirements of the assignment. The work is of exceptional quality. The work is insightful, detailed, articulate, grammatically correct, technically correct, and well organized.

70-79% (B range): Exhibits a good effort in meeting the requirements of the assignment or examination. The work may be less focused, detailed, organized or less widely researched than a paper worthy of a higher grade or communicates fewer ideas with less detailed analysis than an assignment worthy of a higher grade.

60-69% (C range): Average approach and level of success in communicating analysis, factual material, and ideas. The work offers less detailed analysis and/or a lack sufficient research, and /or a less articulate or less clearly focused argument and/or may have technical flaws

50-59% (D range): A poor level of competency in meeting the requirements of an assignment or examination. The work is poorly organized and/or written, features generalized statements, lacks supporting details and/or critical analysis, and features significant technical flaws

Below 50% (F): Failure to meet the requirements of the assignment.

Please Note:

- In terms of formatting, all essays should be doubled-spaced, Times New Roman 12-point fonts, 1 inch margin and should be handed in on or before the due date in class. Manipulating the margins or font size will be penalised.
- All written assignments must be submitted on time, otherwise a 2 per cent penalty will apply each day the essay is late.
- For citation and referencing, please use the APA referencing style 6th edition for all written work. Failure to follow these instructions will affect your grade.

Students with Special Needs

Students with special needs may request accommodations in accordance with the Senate Policy on Students with Disabilities. Such students should at the earliest opportunity advise the Student Accessibility Services (formerly the Learning Assistance Centre) and the instructor of such needs so that appropriate arrangements can be made to accommodate their needs. Those who encounter extenuating circumstances which may interfere with the successful completion of the course should, as soon as possible, discuss these circumstances with the instructor and the Student Accessibility Services.

Lakehead Policy on Academic Dishonesty

As academic integrity is crucial to the pursuit of university education, students are expected to uphold the academic honour code at all times and are advised to familiarise themselves with the university's policy on academic dishonesty, especially in relation, but not limited, to plagiarism, cheating, impersonation etc. In order to make sure that a degree awarded by Lakehead University is a reflection of the honest efforts and individual academic achievement of each student, Lakehead University treats cases of academic dishonesty very seriously and severely penalises those caught in violation of the university's policy on academic honesty.

Policy on Electronic Devices

Cell phones are distracting and therefore should be turned off and kept out of sight during lectures. A visible phone will be assumed to be used. In such a scenario, the instructor may ask the offending student to leave the class. Except where prior permission is sought from the instructor and given, no audio or video recording of lectures is allowed. Where permission is sought and granted, such recordings should be only be for the student's private use.
