Course Description

Contemporary Ontario politics has its roots the province's decades-long period of economic growth, which attracted large-scale capital investment and extensive labour migration. These factors contributed heavily to Ontario's outsized influence nationally not only in politics and economics, but also in culture and other fields. Among the results of the province's growth and stability were fairly predictable political patterns and outcomes. Yet more recently, in an age of massive neoliberal restructuring of the global economy, economic shocks and a wide range of disruptive social, cultural, environmental, and technological forces have transformed the province's politics, diminished Ontario's standing nationally and internationally, and raised concerns about the path forward. To explore these issues, this course examines the institutions, processes, and behaviours that shape politics in Ontario. In particular, the course will pursue the following questions: What is the nature of Ontario politics? What ideas, interests, and institutions have influenced and guided its development? How do Ontarians engage their political system and why do they make the political choices they do?

Course Objectives

The purpose of this course is to encourage students to work with and master a range of theoretical and practical tools and approaches to analyzing and better understanding the social, economic, and historical contexts of politics in Ontario. A broader objective is to foster the development of transferrable writing, research, and analytical skills.

Evaluation

Midterm Quiz: 15%

Research Essay: 30%

Participation: 25%

Final Exam: 30%

Required Materials

Cheryl N. Collier and Jonathan Malloy, eds., The Politics of Ontario, Second Edition (Toronto; University of Toronto Press, 2024).

Course Structure and Work Requirements

Course Structure:

This course is Web-based and will take place entirely online, in 12 weekly cycles. Pay close attention to the class schedule. Students are expected to read all assigned materials and take an active part in discussions.

Written Assignments/Work Requirements/Tests:

a) Participation

Participation is an important component of this course. Students will receive weekly scores out of 2.5 for their online posts. Students must complete ten of twelve weekly posts. If you complete all twelve your lowest two scores will be dropped. See the Discussion Post guidelines for further details.

b) Midterm Test

28 October 2024

The online midterm test will cover all scheduled course materials (lectures and readings) up to and including the week of the test. Further information about how the test will be administered will be provided at the start of the course.

c) Research Essay

Due 18 November 2024

Length: between 2,500 and 2,750 words

Minimum of 10 scholarly/government sources

Students will craft a research essay on one of the posted topics (see the Research Essay Guidelines on D2L). The essay will be based on no fewer than ten scholarly/reputable items. The essay must feature the following:

- A thesis statement in the introductory paragraph
- In-text citations for all paraphrased information and direct quotations
- A works cited page with correct citations for each item

See the Research Essay Guidelines on D2L for more information.

d) Final Exam

An online final exam will be scheduled for the exam period at the end of the semester. It will be cumulative and cover all materials from the whole semester.

Evaluation of Written Assignments/Projects:

80-100% (A range):

Shows advanced competency in meeting the research and/or analytical and/or communications and/or cognitive and/or technical requirements of the assignment.

- The work is of exceptional quality

- The work is insightful, detailed, articulate, grammatically correct, technically correct, and well organized

70-79% (B range):

Exhibits a good effort in meeting the requirements of the assignment or examination.

- The work may be less focused, detailed, organized or less widely researched than a paper worthy of a higher grade or communicates fewer ideas with less detailed analysis than an assignment worthy of a higher grade

60-69% (C range):

Average approach and level of success in communicating analysis, factual material, and ideas.

- The work offers less detailed analysis and/or a lack sufficient research, and /or a less articulate or less clearly focused argument and/or may have technical flaws

50-59% (D range):

A poor level of competency in meeting the requirements of an assignment or examination.

- The work is poorly organized and/or written, features generalized statements, lacks supporting details and/or critical analysis, and features significant technical flaws

Below 50% (F):

Failure to meet the requirements of the assignment.

Course Policies

Late Assignments:

All written work must be handed in on time. Late work will be penalized 2% per day, including weekends and holidays. Late assignments may not be accepted after more than ten days. To obtain an exemption for medical or compassionate reasons, students must present signed supporting documentation.

IMPORTANT: Unsubstantiated technical problems or electronic submission of blank files or otherwise unreadable files are not legitimate excuses for late penalty exemption.

AI policy: Artificial Intelligence has its place. Programs, for example, that check spelling and grammar and generally assist in the crafting process are acceptable. But the use of AI writing assistance to interpret texts and generate prose is not permitted. The rationale here is simple: the student who uses AI to substitute for the effort of producing independent writing does not learn to write well or interpret texts proficiently, and it is a flagrant waste of the instructor's time and effort to grade papers and online posts produced by a machine. In cases of suspected use of AI to substitute for independent writing and reading, penalties may be imposed, including a substantially reduced score on the assignment.

Academic Misconduct:

Lakehead University's policy on academic misconduct can be found in the online Course Calendar 2013-14 > University Regulation > IX Academic Misconduct

A copy of the "Code of Student Behaviour and Disciplinary Procedures" including sections on plagiarism and other forms of misconduct may also be obtained from the Office of the Registrar.

The following rules shall govern the treatment of candidates who have been found guilty of attempting to obtain academic credit dishonestly.

- a. The minimum penalty for a candidate found guilty of plagiarism, or of cheating on any part of a course will be a zero for the work concerned.
- b. A candidate found guilty of cheating on a formal examination or a test, or of serious or repeated plagiarism, or of unofficially obtaining a copy of an examination paper before the examination is scheduled to be written, will receive zero for the course and may be expelled from the University.

Students disciplined under the Code of Student Behaviour and Disciplinary Procedures may appeal their case through the Judicial Panel.

Note: "Plagiarism" shall be deemed to include:

- a. Plagiarism of ideas as where an idea of an author or speaker is incorporated into the body of an assignment as though it were the writer's idea, i.e. no credit is given the person through referencing or footnoting or endnoting.
- b. Plagiarism of words occurs when phrases, sentences, tables or illustrations of an author or speaker are incorporated into the body of a writer's own, i.e. no quotations or indentations (depending on the format followed) are present but referencing or footnoting or endnoting is given.

Plagiarism of ideas and words as where words and an idea(s) of an author or speaker are incorporated into the body of a written assignment as though they were the writer's own words and ideas, i.e. no quotations or indentations (depending on format followed) are present and no referencing or footnoting or endnoting is given.”

Due Dates
